- Student Voice
- Primary Section
- Games and Quote of the week

2023! A new beginning. As we embark on the new year, begin a new term, a new journey in the act called life, we pose a query to ourselves; "Who am I?" This is a very simple question but the answers are never so. What defines who we are as individuals today are relatively our attitude, our personal values, and the beliefs that we have developed throughout our lives. Read and find out how some of our students answered this intriguing question! Happy reading,
Mrs. Walugembe

WHO AM I?

Who am I? I am a small speck of dust in the vast universe, a drop of water in the endless sea, a small grass on the vast grassland, and a small leaf on the lush forest.

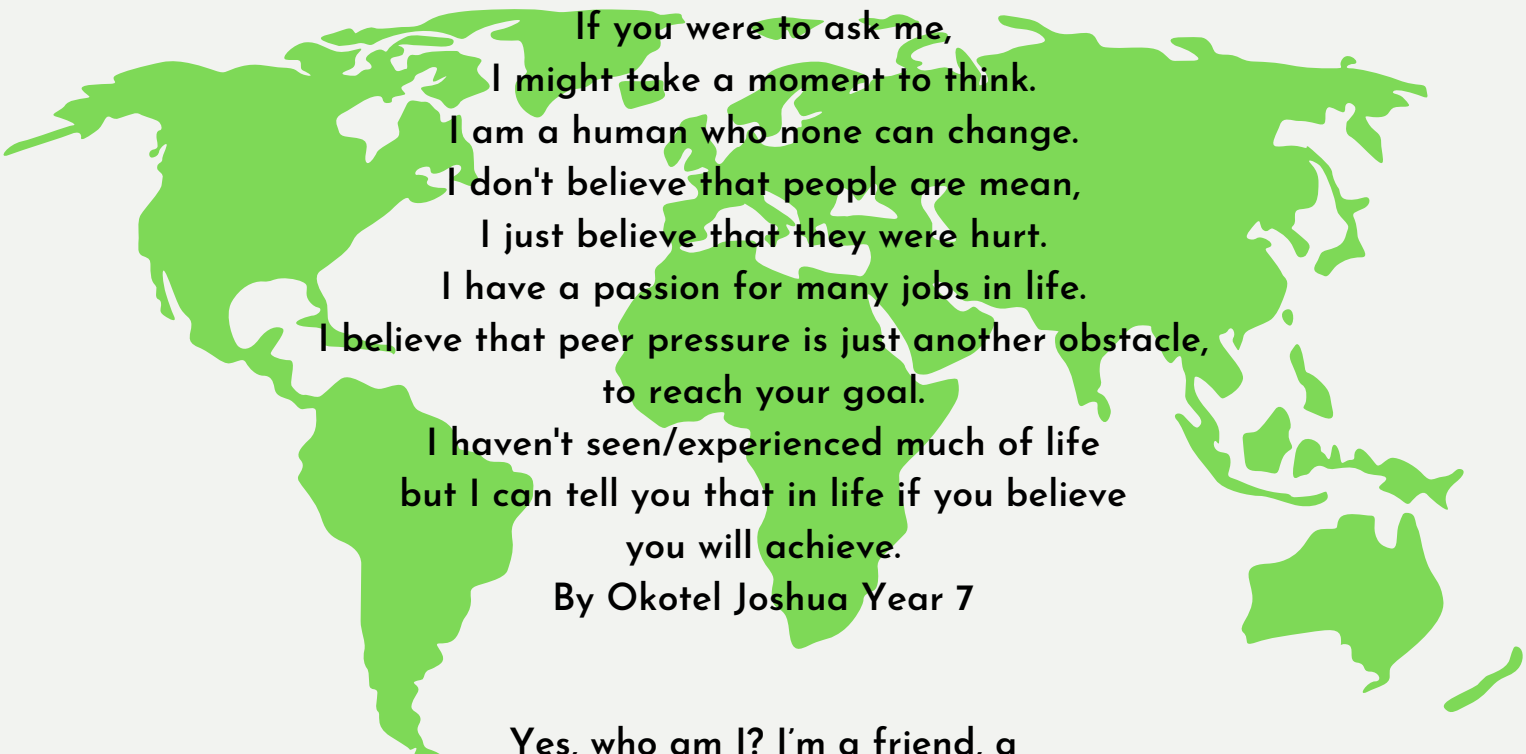

Who am I? I am a human being on the earth, a citizen of China, a member of society, a student in school, the head of the grandchildren in the family, and the treasure of my parents.

Who am I? I don't know either. A person's identities are diverse. They have different identities in different places and at different times. I am a child at home, a student at school, a patient in a hospital, and a passenger at a traffic station, I am a consumer in restaurants, hotels, and major attractions. In the future, I may be the hostess of a family, the daughter-in-law of the in-laws, the wife of a man, or the mother of a child.

Who am I? I am an independent individual, I'm a teenager, and at the same time, I am a school student, a baby of my parents, and a person who is working hard for my goal. This is me, I'm Yi Gao.

I am Sukeyana and I'm 13 years old. I live in Uganda and study at Rainbow International School Uganda.
I'm a very shy person and don't talk much though am a kind person who loves helping people. Also, I can be very emotional. I love sports. It's my favourite hobby. One of my favourite sports is football. I like football because it's fun and I enjoy it very much.

If you were to ask me,
I might take a moment to think.
I am a human who none can change.
I don't believe that people are mean,
I just believe that they were hurt.
I have a passion for many jobs in life.
I believe that peer pressure is just another obstacle,
to reach your goal.
I haven't seen/experienced much of life but I can tell you that in life if you believe you will achieve.

Yes, who am I? I'm a friend, a brother, a boy, a son, a grandchild, and a student, but I've never really thought about who I am.
A boy becoming a man not now but soon enough, I'm just a normal person from a good home and mindset. I'm trying to become a better and stronger person so that I can push myself hard to make it in life and have a good lifestyle, with a family.
I want to be a good father to my kids, a good husband to my wife, and even a grandfather to my grandkids.
So if you ask me who I am, just know I am Mumba Kalifungwa.

STUDENT VOICE

What is your biggest fear & why?

"Spiders, I don't like the way they crawl and they are just creepy."

Anonymous - 7ko

"Tornadoes ,Some of them can blow down houses and i scared of them"

Year 1 classes are following the IPC unit of learning; Sensational! This unit of learning is part of the International Primary Curriculum. In this unit children will recognize the five senses - sight, hearing, taste, smell and touch and these will be explored through a variety of learning activities.

This week the children discovered how sound is made following an experiment using a tuning fork and a bowl of water.

When we hit the tuning fork, it vibrates and then we place it in the water. We can see these vibrations as they spread out across the water, like ripples on a pond. These are known as sound waves.

When we talk or make a sound, the same thing is happening - but the sound waves are invisible because they are moving through the air.

The year 1 children learnt this through discovery!
