

THE WEEKLY RAINBOW

VOL.23 ISS 24

Tradition and heritage on show at the Coronation of King Charles III

Thousands descended on central London to bear witness to the coronation of King Charles III and Queen Consort Camilla at Westminster Abbey, with millions more watching on around the world. It's the first coronation ceremony in over 70 years, following the incredible reign of the late Queen Elizabeth II.

Now, her son King Charles III has been crowned in the ceremony honouring almost a millennium of tradition. The ceremony is performed by the archbishop of Canterbury, the most senior cleric in the Church of England. Most participants in the ceremony are required to wear ceremonial uniforms or robes. Many other government officials and guests attend, including representatives of other countries.

The essential elements of the coronation have remained largely unchanged for the past thousand years. The sovereign is first presented to, and acclaimed by, the people. The sovereign then swears an oath to uphold the law and the Church. Following that, the monarch is anointed with holy oil, invested with regalia, and crowned. Consorts of kings are then anointed and crowned as queens. The service ends with a closing procession, and since the 20th century it has been traditional for the royal family to appear later on the balcony of Buckingham Palace, before attending a banquet there.

This form of coronation is still similar to those before it, as you can see from the picture of Henry IV coronation also at Westminster Abbey in 1399.

This form of coronation is still similar to those before it, as you can see from the picture of Henry IV coronation also at Westminster Abbey in 1399.

Whilst thousands celebrated the coronation there were also some protests. Many people believe the concept of Monarchy is dated and many countries abolished their monarchies in the aftermath of the World Wars and in civil revolutions. Whether you believe that we should still have a King or Queen is a matter that can make for interesting debate. Should people be born with such status and power as a divinely inspired ruler? Should people be given such enormous privilege? Can traditions hold back progress? Should all rulers be elected?

I shall leave the community to debate the issues the coronation raises.

Long live the King and all the Rainbow School community !

OUTDOOR LEARNING WEEK

Year 7 outdoor learning week to the Haven Jinja

We had fun spending time away with our friends and seeing new things. On our first day, we went on a very adventurous nature walk. Although it was muddy, we had a good time being around all the nature and people. We went back and had a wonderful dinner, the food was good and the service was nice. We enjoyed our time at the Haven Jinja and I am sad it had to end.

- Shasmeem 7MO

My favorite part of the trip was the quad biking because as much as I crashed it was fun. We went on a very eventful walk around the area, there was a lot of mud but eventually we made it. When we arrived back at camp we had dinner and I can't lie, it was scrumptious especially the bread. We also played volleyball, Ping-Pong and other games in the evening. I myself enjoyed the trip but brother, the ride from school to there was not fun.

-Nicole 7KO

My favorite part of the trip was when we all played different games and went swimming.

It was fun because all of us could come together as a group and have fun. We played games like ping pong, tennis, badminton, volleyball and football. There were also a lot of swings on which we rode. We also donated clothes to children in the community. Overall this trip was very fun and very eventful.

-Insiya 7MM

My favorite part of this trip is when we went quad biking, I was very exhausted and exhilarated. The reason it was very exciting was because it was raining which made it very muddy. There were various sports to play which included badminton, football, volleyball, table tennis and swimming. We also did mountain biking and my legs felt like they were about to commit suicide.

The food was delicious and mouthwatering.

-Praneth 7KO

The trip overall was very exciting but by far my favorite part was the tents/night time camping. it was an incredibly fun trip and I highly recommend going to any year 6s who are coming next year. We did so much fun stuff like, mountain biking, quad biking, swimming and played a ton of games like badminton, volleyball, football, table tennis and had fun in the playground. Definitely a 5-star experience and the staff were very nice and open and the food was great.

Who is your favourite children's author? What do you know about them?

In Year Two, our spotlight has been on three significant children's authors namely; Jill Murphy, Julia Donaldson and John Burningham. 2RK shared some facts about these authors below...

Did you know?

John Burningham was an author, illustrator and designer.
by Gigi 2RK

I know that John Burningham's first book was 'Botke' and it won a medal.
by Sigrid 2RK

Julia loves acting in plays and thinks that they are a brilliant way for children to improve their reading.
by Inaalla 2RK

Jill Murphy's large family books were so popular that they were adapted for television.
By Samantha 2RK

By the age of six Jill was producing her own children's books.
by Tabazza 2RK

Julia Donaldson took a whole year to think about the 'Grossology' story and then wrote it.
By Malika 2RK

John Burningham met his wife in a art school.
By Samuel 2RK

When Julia Donaldson is not writing Julia likes walking, playing the piano and singing.
By Jayden 2RK

Jill Murphy's favourite food was chips, beans and a big salad.
by Kato 2RK

John Burningham attended 10 different schools.
by Zac 2RK

Jill Murphy's first novel was 'The Worst Witch'.
by Erica 2RK

OUTDOOR LEARNING WEEK

Year 8 – Outdoor Learning Week - Rainforest Lodge Mabira

On the 2nd of May, we went to Rainforest Lodge Mabira for our outdoor learning. When we arrived, the staff warmly greeted us and told us about the rainforest. After that, we had a chance to settle into our rooms and have lunch.

Later that afternoon, we had our first nature walk, which was an inspiring but challenging experience. That night after dinner, we had a very informative quiz night. The next day we started bright and early with breakfast, and then we went to Griffin Falls to do zip lining and archery. When we reached, we were split into two groups, taking turns doing archery and zip lining.

When we got to archery we first had a practice round of getting used to the bow and arrow, and then the people with the most points got to do a final round except this time to hit a balloon. When it was time for zip lining, we had to climb a tree which made most of us hesitant to do it, but it was one of the most fun experiences ever. That night after dinner, we listened to music and had fun talking and laughing. On the last day, we packed our bags and then had breakfast, leading to a tournament of cards. We got together and did an activity where you wrote positive things on people's backs, and then you got to read it afterwards, which was a lovely thing to do. Right after that, we sadly had to leave and return to school.

Overall this was one of the funniest trips ever where you got to know people more and make fun memories.

REVIEWS

Featherlight Reviewed by Franz Patemann

It's about a little girl called deryn whose father is a lighthouse keeper but one day her parents had to go to the mainland to get help because her mother was about to give birth. she was left in charge of the lighthouse.

Who was Maya Angelou? by Jeremiah Mugabe

This book is about an amazing black woman in America who used her writing to teach people to love one another and be kind. She was a dancer, actress and a celebrity. Her greatest told stories were actually true. The moral is to "always show love to others because you don't know what they are going through".

Andaleeb Adiba 19d

Chaya can slip away from any stealing- except stealing the Queen's jewels even if its to help people.

So she steals the Kings Elephant and takes her friends to a jungle adventure.

ON the way they meet people that change the idea of running away.

Mia and the Lightcaster by Maia

This book is very interesting and full of detail and adventure. This book is about a girl who needs to save her city from the darkness. In order to do this she has to unlock her powers. I do recommend this book to anyone who likes adventure books.
